WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—
(UP) — President-elect Roosevelt is earnestly seeking the services in his cabinet of Senator Hiram Johnson, progressive California republican who bolted his own party and followed the Roosevelt banner in the November election.

The president-elect offered the Californian a cabinet post on his recent visit here, it was learned authoritatively today by the United Press. The discussion centered chiefly around secretary of interior, which is set aside for a westerner, but Johnson was given to understand that there are other positions open for him.

The California senator is now considering the Roosevelt offer.
He declined today to discuss the

While it was pointed out he has not yet reached the stage concerning what department in his government would have control over these various units, the impression was that the scope of the interstate commerce commission's power would be broadened to enable it to have the necessary jurisdiction.

Under no consideration, advisers insisted, would an additional cabinet member be named to exercise control and carry out such a policy of unification.

When the transportation program is outlined to his satisfaction Roosevelt was expected to turn his attention to make a specific to the control of the house interstate commerce commission's power would be broadened to enable it to have the necessary jurisdiction.

LOOK OUT FOR THESE SYMPTOMS OF CONSTIPATION

Get Relief With Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sallow complexions, and sleeplessness are often warning signs of common constipation. Unless checked, constipation may impair health.

Today, you can get rid of common constipation by simply eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regularity. ALL-BRAN is also a good source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than taking patent medicines.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. Serious cases, with every meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

HERE'S A TIP

Smart women no longer waste time and money running from store to store in an effort to cut the food expense . . . Piggly Wiggly's store-wide low prices on known and accepted foods has made it unnecessary. She buys her entire list from Piggly Wiggly and glows with the satisfaction that goes with making a "good buy."

The women of Atlanta can dominate "the Road Back." Wherever you spend money see that the merchant is boosting the "Let's Go, Atlanta!" movement. It will pay

Pineapple Takes New Role

When it comes to getting his daily vitamins, the average man is apt to scoff, demand a square meal and let the vitamins take care of them-

But the knowing housewife today finds she can deliver the necessary vitamins in such attractive form that mere man, all unsuspecting, eats merely because it is good to eat, never suspecting the dark secret that he's being tricked into something that's actually good for him.

There's canned pineapple, for example: Who among guileless husbands would suspect Hawaii's golden fruit of harboring anything but a glorious taste. Certainly not the average commuter sitting down to his morning breakfast, in a mood to snatch a bite and rush for the 8:15. Yet recent research has revealed that canned pineapple is a source of five necessary minerals and three essential vitamins. It was also found to aid digestion of proteins such as meat and eggs and to be a valuable aid in preventing and relieving acidosis. So the newest dietetic advice is: "Eat two slices each day" and it might as well be early in the day since pineapple slices or the new "pineapple cup" made from the canned crushed fruits or tidbits can be served nowhere more effectively than at the breakfast table as a stimulating introduction to the customary toast, ENERGIZING COLD WEATHER FOODS.

Each year, along toward the end of January, the weatherman usually presents us with a blizzard, or else a series of rainy days followed by freezing cold. This sudden change from the balmy days we have had will result in extreme bodily fatigue and lowered resistance, if we as homemakers do not watch the energizing foods in the daily diet.

It gives us something to think about when we stop to realize that the particular vitamin that protects us against infection and builds up our resistance to disease is found many times in connection with fats. This vitamin A, as it is called, is found liberally in cream, butter fat, yolks of eggs and similar foods. There is some reason to believe that its carrier is the carotene or yellow coloring in foods, and that this carotene is associated with the fat factor.

Quick Energy Foods. ergy or heat value for the diet—the sugars, the starches and the fats. Of the three groups, the sugars furnish energy the fastest, since they are almost immediately assimilated by the body. The starches give the next fastest energy. The sugars may be compared with kindling wood and the starches with coke in their effects. The well-known sugars are served in breads and rolls and coffee cakes of all kinds, macaroni, spaghetti, etc.

This group of foods gives an acid ash when digested, and when any of the items are used instead of potatoes in the menu, some other vegetable or fruit must be included to offset or neutralize this acid ash. Potatoes and all other vegetables give alkaline ash when digested.

skeep the body warm and active.

Staying Energy Foods.

But for the long-staying energy, we must look to the fats. These correspond to the hard coal which we pile into the furnace at high to keep the fire going several hours. That is why butter on toast makes it more satisfying than just jelly on toast—it stays by a person longer. Cream in the coffe in winter, even extra cream, is good energy insurance. Wintertime is just the time for serving creamed soups, creamed vegetables. The seamed pudding with hard sauce, or cream and sugar, even creamed or scalloped fish or meats.

Typical Cold Weather Breakfasts.

While it is right and proper to serving for wintertime. It is a great mistake to allow members of the family to start off for school or business or shopping with the usual spring or shopping with the shopping with the of serving their morning oatmeal with a big lump of butter and smothered in sugar.

Aside from the hot cereal, there should be fruit, toast or hot bread, and some other one dish, such as the control of bacon, or eggs, or a creamed codfish on toast, or creamed eggs, or creamed dried beef on toast. Variation from the toast or bread may be secured

We have three different groups of foods from which we may secure energy or heat value for the diet—the Cold Weather Luncheons.

This is the place the cream soups come in handy. Don't make the misenergy the fastest, since they are almost immediately assimilated by the body. The starches give the next fast est energy. The sugars may be compared with kindling wood and the starches with coke in their effects. The well-known sugars are served in the menu as sugar, syrups, jellies and jams, candies and similar foods.

The starches are the cereal-grain foods, and all those foods made from them, such as breakfast cereals, breads and rolls and coffee cakes of all kinds, macaroni, spaghetti, etc.

This group of foods gives an acid

Cold Weather Dinners.

This group of foods gives an acid ash when digested, and when any of the items are used instead of potatoes in the menu, some other vegetable or fruit must be included to offset or neutralize this acid ash. Potatoes and all other vegetables give alkaline ash when digested.

These two groups—sugars and starches—are extremely valuable in the cold-weather diet as sources of quick energy. An extra lump of sugar in the coffee, jelly on the toast, a good hot cooked cereal, an extra jeiece of candy—these things help to keep the body warm and active.

Three Pilots Believed Lost As Gales Lash Atlantic Coast

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—(P)—Ships of the sea and one ahip of the air felt the fury of a storm that swept up the Atlantic seaboard today.

Three steamship pilots were believed to have drowned when their yawl was upset off Monmouth, N. J. Sirteen men were forced to abandon the coast guard station on a tiny island off Beach Haven, N. J. Several vessels reported themselves in difficulty and numerous other advices were received of storm damage all along the coast.

The navy dirigible Akron nosed through the fog for her home port at Lakehurst, N. J., after a forced flight to escape the storm. The wind, accompanied by rain squalls, roared upfrom North Carolina just as the Akron was about to come down at Lakehurst last night after a short training cruise.

Captain F. C. McCord, in command of the $2 officers and men aboard decided to seek safety farther inland, and sent the ship cruising over Ohio and Lake Erie for the night. Much of the night was spent dodging the regular air lines to avoid a possible collision in the fog.

In New York harbor, where the wind reached a velocity of 70 miles an hour, the yawl in which three men were returning to their pilot boat after having steered a freighter out to sea, was capsized.

The empty yawl was washed ashore, but no trace was found of its three occupants, Hugh A. McIntyre, 47; Albert Strandberg. 21, and Charles M. Peterson, 21. The New York Pilots' Association gave them up as lost after a futile search.

Another pilot, C. Onasch, was forced to continue on to Europe aboard to the stream of the continue on to Europe aboard to the stream of the

DEVELOPMENT SEEN FOR MUSCLE SHOALS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—(P)—Members of congress who visited Muscle Shoals recently with President-elect Roosevelt said today he contemplates development of the Tennessee river valley on a gigantic scale, far greater than proposed in legislation now pending before either house or senate.

expressed great satisfaction with the views of the president-elect for developing the power and navigation potentialities of the valley, embracing about 640,000 square miles.

Two possibilities for carrying out the development were discussed, it was said by those who talked with Mr. Roosevelt.

Roosevelt.

Under one of them, the project would be undertaken at once, financed by a bond issue of perhaps half a billion dollars. Under the other, the Muscle Shoals project itself would be carried out, and then profits from it used to aid in financing a long-time development of the valley.

EXPRESSES NEED OF DOMESTIC COURT

Need of a court of domestic relations was voiced Thursday by Judge John D. Humphries, senior judge of superior court, while waiting for a jury to return a verdict in a divorce case which had been going on in his court for four days. The jury returned a verdict in favor of H. S. Herrington, a broker, granting him his first decree for full divorce against Mrs. Mattie Bell Herrington.

Judge Humphries declared that the case before him was additional proof to him that a court of domestic relations is needed, "Were there such a court with an experienced judge on the bench," he could have found out in two hours what it has taken four days to show before me."

The divorce in question was hotly contested with charges and counter charges of cruelty. The question of alimony was raised but under the verdict returned the alimony angle may not again be opened until the hearing on the second verdict.

The sewer district bill was referred to the committee on municipal government and will be given an early hearing, it was said.

Provision is contained in the bill for a governing board of six trustees, to be elected as follows: Two by the grand jury of Eulton county, two by the grand jury of Fulton county, with the mayor and chairman of the sewer committee of Atlanta council as exofficio trustees. An engineer-secretary not a member of the board would be elected by the trustees.

The board of trustees would have power to acquire and own property and rights of way necessary for construction and maintenance of sewers, and to construct and maintain sewers, and to construct and maintain sewers, sewage disposal or treatment plants for sanitation of the district and elim-ination of nuisances from the presence of sewers or sewage.

Proposal of the board to issue bonds would be voted on under constitutional provisions providing for bond issues, and the board would be authorized to and the board would be authorized to levy and assess a tax on all real property within the district, sufficient to meet obligations evidenced by the bonds. Nevada Seeks To Bar Too Harsh Bandit Law CARSON CITY, Nev., Jan. 26.—
(P)—The Nevada law which gives official sanction to the killing of a bank bandit would be repealed under a bill passed by the assembly today and sent to the senate.

Enacted in 1931, the law permits payment of a larger reward for the return of a bandit dead than if he is brought back alive, and also fixes the penalty for bank robbery at life imprisonment—or death.

Bankers of the state obtained its passage two years ago, but prose-cuting officials have evidenced a reluctance to proceed under it.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—(P)—An early hearing before the senate banking committee was promised tonight for the one and a half billion dollar "emergency farm credit" bill sponsored by Senator Rebinson, of Arkansas, the democratic cader.

The domestic allotment price-boosting bill, likewise drawn up by the farm organizations and backed by the democratic leadership, meanwhile con-preceded General Von Schleicher in that office and Hjalmar Schacht, former head of the Reichsbank, figured prominently as possible chancellors. It was freely admitted tonight that premature publication of Hitler's renunciation might wreck these plans and necessitate Hitler's reversion to his "all or nothing" policy. President Von Hindenberg's secretary denied that the executive had received a demand for the retirement of Chancellor Von Schleicher, but it is known that yesterday Colonel Von Papen had a long talk with the president's son.

Chancellor Von Schleicher declined to discuss the situation, saying that he will determine his next step after tomorrow's meeting of the reichstag council of elders.

NORTON, Va., Jan. 26.—(P)—
Four boys, whose ages range from 8 to 10 years, today confessed before Judge J. T. Hamilton that they were responsible for the wreck on the Interstate railroad last De-

The wreck was fatal to Frank Moneyhun, fireman, and resulted in serious injury to John Henry Jervis, engineer.

Because they were under the statutory age of 14, Judge Hamilton paroled them to their parents with quatructions to report to him hearthly.

By R. E. POWELL. Association of ideas is not a special hobby of Deputy Sheriff S. C. Davies but continually passing what is known as the old R. M. Rose home, at 537 Peachtree street, prompted him to gamble on the well-known hunch Thursday. He won, and for mute but convincing evidence he offered a 100-gallon capacity copper still, 30 gallons of what bystanders pronounced as "good rye liquor" and 800 gallons of mash.

Back in the halcyon days when technocracy was sending the horse and buggy down for the count, the name of R. M. Rose was one to conjure with. His products, varied as they were, were household words throughout the nation. Some of his beverages, old timers recall, even attained international fame.

Deputy Davies, in pursuing his duties as a peace officer, had heard lots of R. M. Dead Men 'Talk' in Experiments To Bare Vowel Sound Secrets

Their experiments, they state, support the "cavity tone theory of vowel production." Under this theory the pharynx, mouth, nasal cavities and paranasal sinuses not only modify the original sound coming from the vocal cords, but actually produce new frequencies not existing in the sounds from the cords.

The opposing theory has held that the sound frequencies all must be produced originally by the vocal cords, and that the function of the tonal cavities is merely to magnify these frequencies.

"With a more complicated original wave form," their report states, "one might expect to obtain more striking structural changes in the waves as they emerge from the mouth and nose. We chose purposely the simple sine wave form," their report states, "one might expect to obtain more striking structural changes in the waves as they emerge from the mouth and nose. We chose purposely the simple sine wave form," their report states, "one might expect to obtain more striking structural changes in the waves as they emerge from the mouth and nose. We chose purposely the simple sine wave as the one to be modified, reasoning that any change produced in the form would be conclusive in regard to the point in question. "Because the recorded differences emerging occur between the end of the inserted tube in the larynx and that the function of the tonal cavities is merely to magnify these frequencies.

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—(P)—By causing the vocal organs of two dead men to "speak" artificially, Lee Edward Travis and Archibald R. Buchanan will announce tomorrow they have evidence to settle a scientific controversy as to whether the vowels are produced mainly by the vocal cords or by the cavities.

Their experiments were made at the University of Iowa and will be announced in Science, the journal of the American Association for the Advangement of Science.

Exclusive of expenditures for locomotives and cars, the railroads spent an average of $1,389,000,000 for materials and supplies during the period from 1925 to 1929. In 1931 this figure had dropped to $695,000,000 and reached only

Despite the reduction in these purchases which has occurred, the railways are stillbuyers to the extent of more than $1.200,000 every day."

CONVENTION BUREAU BUSY. The twentieth annual report of the Atlanta Convention and Tourist Bureau reveals unusually successful activities for a depression year, and outlines renewed efforts to keep Atlanta in the front rank as a convention city during 1933.

The past 12 months saw 289 conventions, with a total attendance of 36,955, meet in Atlanta. A conservative estimate puts the amount of money spent here by these delegates at $1,250,000. The induction of this outside ready cash into local business channels has been of aid in stimulating trade and finance generally in the city.

Already the bureau has secured nier lanta during the present year, despite the fact that the great maority of the national conventions will go to Chicago during the period of the Century of Progress exposition. Plans are also announced Isolation for an active campaign to secure For Writers. for Atlanta next year many of the conventions which will meet in Chicago this summer.

During its 20 years of existence the convention bureau has been has been set aside for the purpose of either directly or indirectly responsible for bringing 5,203 conventions to Atlanta, with a total attendance of 1,457,360 delegates, who, it is estimated, have spent approximately $35,000,000 in the city.

From the standpoint of dollarsand-cents returns, Atlanta has few civic organizations as vitally important as the convention bureau Its present officers include W. O. Foote as president and Ivan Allen as chairman of the executive committee. Its successful record and the material aid it can render in the efforts of Atlanta business to emerge from the depression, warrants that it should be given every possible assistance in the work that it is performing so efficiently.

NAVY UNIT HONORED

The invitation to the Atlanta naval eserve unit to act as the official Georgia in the inaugural parade on March 4, and its assignment of second place in the parade, is a wellmerited honor. Although located in an inland city, the unit has a record of efficiency second to none in the country.

It will cost approximately $1,000 to transport the unit from Atlanta of the country is shown in a sum- to Charleston, where it will board mary of annual railway purchases United States destroyers which will

The young men composing the unit are all engaged in business in Atlanta. The trip means that they will have to be away from their duties for more than a week, and it would not be fair to ask that they bear their own expenses when they go as the official representatives of Atlanta and Georgia.

This splendidly trained military organization is certain to make a showing in the parade that will be a credit both to its personnel and to the state from which it comes.

Since Georgia is the part-time home of the president-elect, to take part in whose induction into office the Atlanta naval reserves have been invited to Washington, it is not to be thought of that the invitation will not be accepted.

The modest sum required should be subscribed without delay in order that the members of the unit may make their plans for the trip at

Russian writers are to have a special suburb built for them, just outside Leningrad. A sum of three, million pounds sterling, or $15,000,000, putting up the model village, which is to have a theater, a general store, etc. There is also to be a publisher's office in the writers' village. The news comes as a surprise, for last summer when I tried to establish contact with Russian writers, both in Leningrad and Moscow, I was told that there were hardly any of them present in these cities at that time.

Where are they? I asked. I was told that in summer time most of them go out to work on the farms and others engage in industrial activity, so as to get closer to the actual life of the people. "You fellows in west-ern countries," I was told with a certain amount of friendly disdain, "you western writers live in toward ivory, you write about life from exalted observation posts without really mixing with the masses. Pet and Cultivate a Weed and All You Have Is a Larger Weed -By Robert Quillen -

Many people adopt orphans. As a rule they examine many children and end by adopting the prettiest one. If the child is pretty and apparently intelligent, few questions are asked concerning its parents. If they are conveniently dead, or otherwise eliminated as sources of trouble, all interest in them is ended.

But parents are not so easily dismissed. Dead or alive, they continue to exert an influence that no training or environment can wholly over-come. And the child that seems most attractive at the age of three or four may be influenced by parents long dead and thus made stupid or vicious before it is grown.

Environment and training can develop or handicap a thoroughbred horse, but nothing can transform it into a scrub horse. And no training or environment can transform a scrub into a thoroughbred

This class is not large in America, but it produces the majority of homeless children. And these children, however well housed and of trained and pampered, never can escape the handicap of their parentage. Middle-class people-the kind of people who read editorials like this are the people who adopt children. If they adopt a child of their own however poor and unimportant its parents may have been, and whether the child is legitimate or not, they may hope to make it as worthy as themselves.

But if they adopt one from the lower class-the prettiest and brightest one available—they may expect its mind to stop growing at the age of 12. Despite precept and example, it will become what its parents were and shame its benefactors in their old age. I am not writing this to discourage childless and heart-hungry people. My adopted daughter is my chief pride and joy.

There is no finer human kindness than to adopt a waif and give him chance. There is no kindness that pays greater dividends. But it is a business that requires the exercise of common sense. No degree of kindness can transform a pretty yellow pup into a thorough bred white collie.

New Textbook Contracts Opposed.

The schools of Georgia Thursday drew the attention of members of the legislature, both house and senate adopting resolutions in an effort to prevent execution of recent contracts for new textbooks. The house also received a bill to place all of the schools under one system and to eliments. schools under one system and to elim-inate the independent systems, carrying out the recommendations of the school code commission. The resolutions hit contracts which will change more than 85 per cent of schools. These books afready have been contracted for and are scheduled to be put into use on September 1.

Approval of the senate was given in a stormy session approving a resolution calling for a joint committee investigation into the recent letting of the contracts for the school books. The vote was 45 to 3.

The house resolution called upon the state board to cancel the contracts. The proposal was offered by Representative Mixon, of Irwin county. It calls upon the textbook body, which is composed of the members of the board of education, to cancel the contracts if possible, and if not, to delay the fulfillment of the contracts in order to relieve the financial burden of parents of the school nupils who will be obliged to buy the new books.

Representative Mixon's name also headed the list of those sponsoring the setting up of a single educational system which will result in county boards managing the schools of the various counties and the elimination of city and district boards of education.

New Board Proposed. The bill provides for the creation of a new board of education of 11 members, one each from the 10 congressional districts and the governor. The governor is to appoint the board, two members each two years. The governor is to be the eleventh member, and those appointed by him must be also is to be appeinted by the goverunder the provisions of the proposal, each county is to be a separate unit of the state system, a full eightmonth term is to be guaranteed and the salaries and other employes of the schools all paid by the state. The buildings, bonds, transportation and other incidental necessities are to be paid by the various counties, and when bonded districts are consolidated the bonds are to be assumed by the new district.

A general state budget and individual budgets for counties are provided. However, local levies of taxes at a high rate are largely eliminated, ac-cording to sponsors of the bill.

The county boards to manage the various units, under the provisions of the bill are to be composed of five members to be elected by the people and the boards in turn are to select the county superintendents. However, the present county superintendents are to remain in the expiration of the terms to which thing beyond that will be paid by the ounty employing the superintendent. The bill was given a first reading Thursday and assigned to the com-mittee on education for consideration. It is expected that public hearings will be held on the bill at dates to be announced later. After disposing of the school resolution the house approved by a vote of 126 to 10 a bill making the socalled suspended sentences legal. An amendment offered by Representative William B. PASSES IN PARIS PASSES IN PARIS Ala. After her debut in Mobile, abe was married to William K. Vanderbilt and stormed the social colony at Newport. When it became apparent that she was not thoroughly welcome in the "inner circle," she challenged her opposition with the famous marble house—a home that cost $2,000,000 to build and $7,000,000 to decorate and furnish. The mansion was given her by her husband as a birthday gift. Then came her romance with Oliver H. P. Belmont, a sensation of the 1800's. She was divorced from Vanderbilt and married Belmont. Mrs. Belmont, who was 80 years old, had lived in France since 1924. Dr. Edmund Gros, head of the American hospital, said the cause of death was a gradual weakening which followed paralytic strokes.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m. Saturday at the American cathedral.

At the bedside when Mrs. Belmont died was her daughter, Mrs. Jacques Balsan, the former Coossuelo Vanderbilt, a second son, was understood to be on a yachting cruise. Mrs. Balsan and her husband, Colonel Balsan, will accompany the body to America.

Mrs. Belmont gave up her public career and her residence in America twelve years ago to make her home in lay and was one of the strong financial supporters of the national woman's party.

Rumor was that the democratic leadership may seek to force house action on the bill, if the banking committee does not act within a reasonable time.

Some of the banking committee already have voiced opposition to the branch banking feature of the Glass bill.

The slayer apparently escaped on foot.

PAIN DEADENED CHEST COLDS LOOSENED WITHOUT DRUGS

Get quick relief from neuralgia pain, sciatica pain, neuritis pain, rheumatic pain, lame back, stiff neck, headache, strains and chest colds by rubbing plenty, of Baume Bengué (pronounced Ben-Gay) on the spot. It doesn't blister or stain. Rub it in till it sinks down and soothes the pain or breaks up the cheat cold. Take no drugs, for any drug that is powerful enough to "deaden" pain or loosen a chest cold may not be good for you.

But beware of imitations. Ask your druggist for Baume Bengué by name (called "Ben-Gay" in English). There are many analgesic baumes, mostly cheap imitations of Ben-Gay made out of synthetic drugs. That is why they are cheap. That is also why they are ineffective. Insist on Ben-Gay and you will get real results.

Children's Coughs Need Creomulsion

Always get the best, fastest and surest treatment for your child's cough or cold. Prudent mothers more and more are turning to Creomulsion for any cough or cold that starts.

Creomulsion emulsifies creosote with six other important medicinal elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and check germ growth. It is not a cheap remedy, but contains no narcotics and is certain relief. Get a bottle from your druggist right now and have it ready for instant use.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Playing for an Extra Trick

Buffalo, N. Y., is a center of interest in Duplicate Bridge, the Buffalo Whist Club being a meeting-place for lovers of this form of the game.

So great has become the interest in Duplicate there that the Whist Club publishes weekly a mimeographed circular, giving the results obtained by the leaders and analyzing the bidding and play on some of the more unusual hands. An interesting hand played in a recent tournament was the following, in which the question presented to the Declarer was the method of developing his hand. In Rubber play, particularly under the new scoring, the safety of the contract is the only consideration. An extra trick is immaterial. In Duplicate, however, the extra trick looms very large in the minds of the players because it may mean the difference between a top score and a bottom score.

Tick, whereas if the spade suit does not break favorably, and as a matter of fact it cannot be expected to do so, West may have trouble in making his contract.

The proper plan, then, for the Declarer, is to lead a small diamond toward the minor tenace in the Dummy hand. As the cards lie, this method of play, correctly developed, assures the making of four-odd, as, even with an Opening heart lead, North and South cannot drive out the two stoppers in time to prevent their adversaries from making of four-odd, as, even with an Opening heart lead, North and Elevation of the play of the hand might depend the play of the safety of the contract is the only consideration. The bidding varied slightly at the different tables, but in every case the eventual contract was three no-trump, sometimes with West the Declarer and sometimes with East. The uniformity went further, in that, whether West or East was Declarer, the Open-ing lead was a heart. The problem presented to the Declarer then is for which suit, spades or diamonds, he shall play. The decision, actually, is very close. Obviously the Declarer has 4 club tricks and 2 heart tricks. If the diamond suit can be developed with the loss of a single trick, then East and West can make an extra

FRIENDLY COUNSEL BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield:

My friends tell me that there are whispers going around about my husband and his secretary. I want my husband to let her go though I have no proof of the truth of the rumor. My mind is poisoned against this girl and knowing that she is always near him in the office makes me very unhappy. He protests against letting her go because he mays he has spent five years in training her to take charge of his work and that his whole office would be disrupted if ne dismissed her. He says furthermore that removing her would not remove the cause of our unhappiness for we do not understand each other and never can. I have worried oversthis affair until 1 am a nervous wreek. Can you help we?

ANGUISHED WIFE am a nervous wreck. Can you help me? ANGUISHED WIFE.

There are a number of expressions that people use unconsciously or instinctively to cover up states of mind or attitudes of which they are ashamed or which they wish to conceal. They never seem to learn that the very phraseology they employ is a dead give away. If you ask some woman about a love affair that ended disastrously in the dim past, most frequently she will make a remark about its having been "so long ago." A man that talks about his wife's not understanding him might as well blazon the story of his guilt on a screen. The

But what is a wife to do when her husband disregards her wishes? This disregard alone is proof that he is more concerned with his own comfort and convenience than he is with her happiness. Your husband is trembling on the brink of disaster, if he hasn't already tumbled in, and one little push from you will topple him over. If you can't persuade him to let the stenographer go, you can at least provide her some stiff competition for your husband's interest. Humiliating, you object. Yes, but not more humiliating than permitting yourself to go into a nervous decline which will seal your doom as far as your husband is concerned.

Now I know that this requires super-human tact and self-control. But most of us, with our life's hap-piness at stake, can exercise both. Courage long dormant in an indi-vidual often awakes in the great crisis of life. Under the spur of great grief, under the lash of a tor-menting whip, men and women rise menting whip, men and vomen rise to great heights of heroism. There is no greater grief to a woman than threatened loss of her husband's love and there is no keener lash than Lillian Mae Patterns.

This young miss is about to "step out" to some important gathering dressed in the stunningest frock imaginable . . . one that every young ting adores. The captivating ruffling

A conservatively smart dress is this black rough crepe silk.

It will carry you through an entire day. You can wear it for shopping in the morning and then for luncheon or bridge.

Note the smart white accents in rough crepe in crossover vest and in the front-facing that forms a rever.

The small view shows how smart it is with the rever buttoned up to the shoulder.

Style No. 875 is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 36 requires 4 yards of 39-inch material with 5-8 yard of 39-inch material with 5-8 yard of 39-inch material with 5-8 yard of 39-inch motorasting.

It's very simple to make it.

Other equally smart suitable fabrics are crinkled crepe satin, wool crepe and novelty wool and silk crepe mixture.

Here's a New and Good Dessert. BY FLORENCE La GANKE.

"Guess what Aunt Nancy has for essert today, Joan. It is something different. It's smooth and rich, golden brown and—but this she added to herself—cheap." bowl.

Nancy was being careful not to give the children a fear of financial instability. Too many little children are hearing long discussions and wailings about poverty, these days.

They magnify the dangers their elders discuss, until they grow fearful and nervously unbalanced.

If she could help it neither Joan nor Peter Page Jr. would hear the discussions about the depression, nor the many sacrifices their elders had to make to keen things gold. to make to keep things going.

So she did not tell Joan the dessert was cheap. But the fact that it was and—in addition—was nourishing and therefore "good" for her niece were two fact.

Here are two innocent victims of a careless driver. Good drivers themselves obeying all the rules of the road—they met with an accident because a reckless motorist broke traffic rules.

Every 30 seconds someone is injured by automobiles each 15 minutes someone is killed. Nearly every one of us can recall some friend or acquaintance who met with a serious traffic accident this past year.

Traffic rules and laws have been made—thousands are employed to enforce them but the death and accident toll is increasing.

You should protect your family financially against such accidents-it is your duty to them.

ALLOTTED $240,000 County commissioners, at a special

County commissioners, at a special session Wednesday, made an appropriation of $240,000 to the county school system. The school board, following this action, set up its 1933 budget as $828,940, which is $96,125 less than the 1932 expenditures.

Superintendent Jere Weils pointed out Thursday that of the $828,940 anticipated expenditures, $240,000 is an appropriation from the county while the remainder of the revenue is derived from a special school tax of 71-2 mills and from the state. With this in mind, the school board is negotiating for a loan of about $600,000 for operation of the schools until the 1933 taxes are due next fall. The loan will be retired by revenue obtained from the special school tax and from the state of Georgia.

10 questions answered explain why NEAPPLE- ANN has more known health values

New Food Research Reveals Information of the Utmost Importance to Everyone's Daily Diet

than any other fruit

When was it found that canned pineapple is so valuable in diet? It has always been known that pineapple is generous in vitamin content and valuable in diet. Only recently, however, has it been proved by dietetic research that Canned Pineapple eaten daily actually has the power to correct many of the deficiencies which exist in ordinary diet.

What does the daily eating of canned pineapple do for one?

Canned Pineapple is known to do more different things to benefit health than any other fruit. It possesses, first, the property of helping to maintain the normal alkalinity of the blood. Canned Pineapple, eaten daily, is, for normal persons, an effective safeguard against the condition known as 3 Does canned pineapple do more than this?

Yes. Most fruits possess important dietetic values but Canned Pineapple is known to possess more than any other fruit. It contains the minerals - iron, copper, manganese, calcium, phosphorus. Iron, copper and manganese help to protect against nutritional anemia; calcium and phosphorus are indispensible to normal health.

11 Does canned pineapple influence the elimination of waste products from the body?

Yes. Canned Pineapple promotes the elimination of waste products from the body by stimulating kidney function.

5 Does canned pineapple contain vitamins?

Yes. Canned Pineapple is a generous source of vitamins A, B and C. Vitamin A, many authorities agree, is important in building resistance to colds, and it is often deficient in ordinary diet. Vitamin B is antineuritic in its action and a growth promoter. C is the antiscorbutic vitamin and pineapple is an excellent source of this vitamin.

6 How does pineapple aid digestion? Canned Pineapple has a definitely stimulating effect on 'protease activity." It accelerates protein digestion. For this reason it is an excellent fruit to eat with such foods as meats, eggs, beans. No other fruit or vegetable is known to aid protein digestion in a degree comparable to pineapple.

7 How does canned pineapple compare with fresh fruits in cost?

Canned Pineapple is more economical than most fresh fruits. It is available in uniform flavor and nutritional values, the year around. Not only has it more known dietetic values than most fruits but it is economical.

8 How should canned pineapple be eaten?

One of the remarkable things about Canned Pineapple is its effectiveness in small daily servings. From a culinary viewpoint its many established uses are commended but, for health, start or end one meal a day with a cup of crushed pineapple, or tidbits, or its equivalent, two slices.

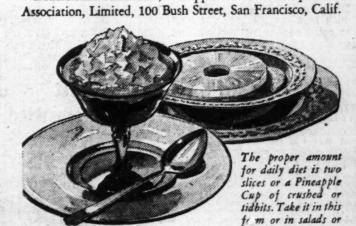

O Do the statements made here apply to all pineapple?

For daily use, Canned Pineapple is recommended. Canning temperatures cause a beneficial change. The dietetic importance of Canned Pineapple of all kinds and grades has been studied carefully. 10 Then it is actually true that canned pineapple has more known dietetic values than any other fruit for daily use by human beings? Yes. This is the fact indicated by previous findings and established by recent nutritional research on human subjects. Canned Pineapple in its prescribed serving is now being added to the diet regimes of many great institutions. Educational Committee, Pineapple Producers Cooperative

'Cut Prices? and With These Costs? Moans Baseball Owner.

More in pain than in sorrow, a gentleman who conducts a baseball business in a nearby city with a membership in the Southern Association lodge, sends me some figures and asks me if there is any sense in a drive to obtain lower admission prices for the baseball fan. This was in reply to a wire asking him how he stood, or sat, on the matter.

These figures were taken from his own books but he revised them, so he said, so as to strike a happy medium between the larger cities, which spend more (the wicked things) and the smaller cities, which spend less. (Poor things.)

It seems that the business of running a Southern As-These figures were taken from his own books but he revised

It seems that the business of running a Southern Association club may be set down as something between $100,000 and $180,000 annually, depending on how many new players the boss has to purchase and that sort

And for the purpose of getting at some sort of thing which the auditors like to see on expense accounts, the items may be lumped about as follows:

Pay roll of players, managers and officials . . . $45,000 Road expenses during season 16,500 Baseballs, uniforms 2,500 Average loss on purchases 20,000 Park rentals and maintenance 25,000 Training expenses 5,000

The gentleman continues by saying that he has read in the papers that the average major league club spends something like $500,000 per year, with the Yankees, of course, spending almost twice that much, or something like $800,000 per year.

"You may see from this," says the pained gentleman, "t.at the Southern Association is spending more

"Any anyone who thinks that a pay roll of $40,000 or $45,000 for a class A team is not too much is not slightly balmy but entirely balmy."

This was quite emphatic but the gentleman points out that if the salary limit of $4,500 per month is adhered to that it will still run well over $24,000 annually with the manager's salary tossed in.

"Now what do you think about those figures?" he asks. My sympathy is with the owner and not with the player refusing $500 per month. But that isn the answer.

MORE BLEACHER SEATS.

It will pain the gentleman some more but the only suggestion which this corner would make would be to mortgage the foul lines or the catcher's masks and windbags, and go out and spend some more money to enlarge the bleachers.

And then reduce the price on them to 25 cents, onequarter of a dollar. And a dollar that is still very stable.

Baseball was made by the bleachers. But when the boom days came along and even the lowest of us were able to wear shorts made of silk and having wide stripes of blue and pink, and undershirts of various hues of silk, the bleachers became al-

I recall an owner putting his thumbs in his suspenders and king back and forth on his heels, telling me one doubted. rocking back and forth on his heels, telling me one day that in the near future the bleachers would disappear.

But the silk shorts and the silk undershirts are gone now and the old-fashioned sort have come back and a quarter looks pretty good for a bleacher seat.

Baseball in the minors should start off the season with some seats at 25 cents in the bleachers and some for 50 in the grand stand. I am very sorry about the figures. They are painful. But all they prove is that the baseball owners went haywire, as a lot of us did. The fans aren't going unless they get some sort

TAPS—WAR POEMS.

Comes a copy of Taps, a collection of the famous poems of the World War as compiled by Theodore Roosevelt Jr. and Grantland Rice. "I think it is a good collection," wrote Rice, "because Theodore Roosevelt did most of the work."

It is a marvelous collection. It contains some of the brilliant poems of the Englishman, Siegfried Sassoon, whose beautiful books, "Memoirs of a Fox Hunting Man" and "Memoirs of an Infantry Officer," brought one up to the war and through it, as seen by an Englishman. There are all the old favorites of Brooke and Seeger and Frost and Kipling. And many others.

There are some there by Grantland Rice, as beautiful and as forceful as any in the volume. Rice has made himself the most popular and the most read of all sports writers in the profession, a rare accomplishment. His poems are as fine as his prose. A few verses from Rice's poem, "Songs Above the Dust," will show the sweep and the beauty of them:

Where rain-wet crosses know the dawn that gleams, Safe from the crashing shell, the raw steel's thrust, They face the resurrection of their dreams, Where only songs now live above their dust.

Songs of forgotten valor, where the storm Of unleashed lightning hurled its dread barrage; Songs of old shadows that again take form In grim and silent waiting for the charge.

This their recompense-the gray wind brings Lost threnodies still vibrant with their fame. And from the snow-clad uplands winter sings Old songs they helped to write in blood and flame.

What mound of earth can keep their voices still? What pressing coverlet of clay or clod Can dim the breathless strains by plain and hill

What pressing coverlet of clay or clod
Can dim the broathless strains by plain and hill
Where Seeger sleeps and Brooke smiles up to God?

It is the sort of book one wants to keep to pick up and read again and again. And in the foreword by Roosevelt is a line which says that perhaps these poems will help us catch again the spirit of self-sacrifice and devotion which burned high in our land 15 years ago. Which wouldn't be a bad spirit to recapture.

With clubs and balls and medicine bottles, Gene Sarazen today was off to the Florida golfing wars.

About Revolta.

Johnny Revolta is one of the most-talked-of golfers of the new year. Any 21-year-old kid who can lead Sarazen and Hagen by wide margins in two tournaments in worth looking over. In the first place he paid his own way down from Michigan.

He is originally from Oshkosh, Wis., and he first played in Florida when he was 15. No one paid his entry fee and he had enough left to buy food. and he had enough left to buy

He is one of the most likable young golfers anyone could care to meet. Six feet in height, weighing 170 pounds, he looks lithe and lean. He has a fine, free swing with every club. He has quite enough in the way of length and he is one of the best young iron players in many

Old Dave Shade Draws With Law: Warned of Rum

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—(P)—Dave Shade, battle-scarred middleweight, who has fought all the ring stars of three divisions with a minimum of defeats, was awarded a draw today in Morrisania court after the first offi-cial street fight of his career. Dave pleaded guilty to a disorderly conduct charge and was given a sus-pended sentence by Magistrate Ed-ward J. Walsh.

The court procedure grew out a turbulent session in the dawn of Jamary 18 when Shade, still consid-ered an outstanding middleweight title contender, waged a losing battle with a half-dozen policemen, several detec-tives, and two ambulance squads be-fore he was finally carted away to a hospital in a straight jacket to prevent further damage.

record of 14 straight victories for the current season, face two hard games within three days.

Saturday night the Triangles play return game with the Dynamos at Chattanooga and then meet Grayson Athletic Club's fast quintet on the 'Y" court Monday night.

Both games are a real test of the Triangles' fine march, which extended to 14 games Wednesday nigh when Parks-Chambers was beaten, 27 to 22, in the opening series of the second half of the Big Six league on the "I" court.

Bill Redd's Dynamos, who are the old Tepecos, rank as the strongest professional team in the south. They have lost only two games this season, one to the Celtics and the other to the Triangles. They are out to even the score against the fast Atlanta five Saturday night on their home court. Ginny Wages, guard and captain of the 1931 Georgia Tech team, and a former teammate of Johnny Phillips and Ted Raines, of the "X." is a high-ranking player on the Grayson team. WHEAT—Weaker. CORN—Easy. CATTLE—Strong. HOGS—Higher. By JOHN L. COOLEY. NEW YORK, Jan. 26 .- (A) Stocks made hard work of an early rally today, and finally slid lower. trailing tobacco and steel shares donward. Professional traders who follow up yesterday's rise in the carrier shares found the market resistant. A few rail stocks were a point higher but the general list refused to follow this leadership and in the last hour all groups reacted.

Selling of the tobaccos reflected not only American Tobacco's failure to vote extra dividends but also rumors that further wholesale cigaret price cutting was imminent.

Steels grew uneasy as the time for Bethlehm's meeting approached, the United States Steel issues losing a point net. American Tobacco "B" was down nearly 3. Liggett & Myers "B" almost 2 and Reynolds a major fraction. For American Can, Westinghouse, du Pont and American Telephone net declines were of minor extent.

In rails speculative interest in New In rails speculative interest in New York Central was maintained by virtue of the Delaware & Hudson stock acquisition, which has attracted wide interest. Amusement stocks, most of which are in the lowest price brackets, got quietly by the Paramount-Publix bankruptcy petition. Paramount itself was active, closing 1-8 higher. Sales reached a total of 808,780 shares and the average not change was a loss of less than half a point. Kreuger & Toll certificates, soon to be stricken from the list, turned over in large volume at the familiar nominal quotations.

Foreign Markets

LONDON—Trading on the stock exchange was generally cheerful with most interest being shown in foreign bonds, gilt-edged securities and gold mining shares, which improved. Irish land stock improved but Guinness Brewery issues were weaker on the election returns. The closing was steady.

PARIS After yesterday's strike, prices on the bourse opened slightly higher on foreign advices. Trading was later but the close was well

RUGAR.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Raw sugar was ateady today and spot prices advanced 1 point to a basis of 2.68.

Demand was small, the only sale reported being 10.000 bags of Porto Rican due February 6 to a local refiner at 2.68.

Futures showed little variation and at the close were 1 point lower to 1 point net higher. The opening was unchanged to 1 point lower, with near mouths off under liquidation and selling by commission houses. There was little demand in evidence. The close was a point higher on July but unchanged from initial levels on all other deliveries. Unity 2,400 tons changed hands, including 1,300 in the form of exchanges. March closed 40, May 71, July 76, September 79, December 93, January 54.

Rofined was unchanged at 3.95 for fine granulated.

COFFEE.

NEW TORK, Jan. 28.—Coffee was quiet but irregular today, reflecting the influence of moderate orders either way.

The tone was unsettled owing to uncertainty over the disposition of the remaining 41,150 hags of grain stabilization coffee which was left unsold yesterday.

By FRANK L. McCONNELL. NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—(4)—Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethehem Steel Corporation, today said that the past six months of stabilized that the past six months of stabilized operation in the steel industry, without any further facing away to still lower levels, indicated to him that "business had struck bottom."

"I hope three months from now, when our first-quarter earnings are made public, that I'll have a cheerful report to make. I don't know; no-body does. But one of these days, business will turn up. And I don't think it will be so long as a lot of people think"

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 .- (A)-Except for a spurt in trading near the close, cotton was quiet again today with slight early advances followed by reactions under increased southern selling and liquidation.

March contracts closed at 6.09 with the general market closing barely steady, 4 to 6 points lower. The opening was unchanged to 4 points higher.

made his statement in an interview following the release for publication of Bethlehem earnings.

They showed a deficit after all charges of $5.621,672 for the fourth quarter of 1932, against $5.425,724 the previous quarter. The preliminary figures for the full year 1932 showed a deficit of $19.404,481, against net income of $115,745 in 1931.

Operations of the Bethlehem company, he said, averaged 13 per cent of capacity in the fourth quarter. against 13.3 per cent in the third quarter. The average for the whole year was only 16.8 per cent.

Grace stated that wages of the McClintic-Marshall Company, a subsidiary of Bethlehem, had been cut 20 to 25 per cent to meet outside competition. He said he assumed the reduction made by the American Bridge Company, a subsidiary of United States Steel Corporation, was made for the same reason. The American Bridge reduction was made public today.

There appeared to be considerable March liquidation, which was absorbed by the trade. Prices broke in the fate trading under southern selling, and of derings through brokers with Japanese connections. Closing quotations were the lowest of the day, with active months showing reactions of 9 to 11 points from the highs of the morning.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—There was sufficient trade and speculative buying in the early part of the session to carry prices to net gains of 3 to 8 points. The market was relatively steady during the middle of the session but eased in late trade in in LIVINGSTON & CC.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Stocks, after showing a little strength in the morning trading, sagged off slowly during the afternoon and probably closed a small fraction lower in the averages for the day. Similar action was evident in most of the commodity markets. The bond market, however, acted fairly well and was probably up on the day. At no time though was there any volume on the decline, and no real change in the action of stocks took place.

LIVINGSTON & CO. NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—There, was little of interest today. The opening was slightly higher following stronger Liverpool cables with the trade and wire houses buying and offerings coming from the south, New Orleans, co-ops and spot houses. Exports for the week are most disappointing and exports are now only 62,000 over last year with the present high shells for cotton many exporters have probably delayed January shipments hoping for a more favorable chance to cover and it may well be that the month-end figures will be large. The bulk of the business again today consisted in switching out of March. DOBES & CO.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The stock market was higher during most of the session today while wheat and cottop also did better. Bond prices were irregularly higher with special strength in governments. Towards the close wheat receded to below yesterday's final price and stocks lost their gains. Declines and rallies in the market continue to remain rather unconvincing and trading profits on either side of the market have to be taken quietly of they are apt to disappear.

FINNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER.
CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—Helped by firmer
Liverpool cables, wheat reached the high point for two weeks past at the opening but the moderate bulge attracted profittaking sales and in the absence of outside buying orders, prices sagged down under last night's—close. Volume of trade was very light and the local element took the selling side later in the day. Liverpool
March wheat has advanced to May price and both have narrowed their discount under July, emphasizing the absence of adequate stocks in Great Britain. We favor holding long wheat during this dull period in the expectation of much better prices
when interest revives.

COURTS & CO.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—All markets, evidently, were under the influence of the war debts and world economic conference to be held later on, and in consequence fluctuations in today's market in cotton were without features, and there was no indication of a trend. The Reitish note stated that it was not contemplated to link stabilization of currencies with discussions of the debt, and this, to an appreciable extent, cast a damper over the possibility of a favorable outcome of the conference. We continue to believe, however, that any change in general business and industrial conditions will be constructive and suggest purchases for the long pull. BEER & CO.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—While wheat prices advanced, to a new high since January 13 in the early trading today the aggressive buying apparently exhausted itself at the opening and sufficient pressure developed to bring about a reaction to below the finish of the previous day. The range of prices was again narrow with apeculative interest only fair and the routine news appeared to have little lasting effect one way or the other. Numerous reports of moisture being needed for winter wheat are being received from the west and southwest and reports toward the close indicated the possibility of dust storms in west Kansas late in the day as the wind was said to be gising.

FENNER, BEANE & UNOERLEIDER.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—The disappointing action of Thursday's market following clear-cut indications of buoyancy in the previous session must be attributed to unfavorable developments, some of which were largely unexpected. From a trading viewpoint Friday's market should furnish a critical test. The psychological effect of inability to recover promptly and decisively from the setback suffered today probably will be sufficiently unfavorable to bring further selling pressure. It would not appear advisable to enlarge long trading positions pending evidence as to the market's ability to meet this test. will be sufficiently unfavorable to bring further selling pressure. DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—The cotton goods market reported spare purchases of gray cloths today but prices continued steady. Rayon fabrics enjoyed a brisk call. Burlap prices were steady, reflecting a similar market in Calcutta.

WOOL.

BOSTON. Jan. 26.—Trads in wool continued steady at a somewhat slower rate on the whole than last week, with prices generally about steady to firm. The bulk of the sales are on the shorter combing dis and finer wool, although a scattered demand is being received on quite a wide selections of grades, activity on mediums being fully maintained. Strictly combing 18s. 50 bring around 19 cents in the greese on good bright Ohio and similar fleeces, with scoured basis values of bright and semi-bright lines ranging from 32634 cents.

COURTS & CO. .

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—There is little that can be said about the market today.

Prices were unchanged at the opening and after hardening a bit in the late dealings sold off bringing the level below last night's close. There was weakness in the tobacco atocks, the rumor being that there was talk of further cut in cigaret prices.

Speaking generally, however, the market did not act badly in that what little activity there was came with better prices. It is hoped that the announcement of Mr. Roosevelt's cabinet will be the opening wedge toward better things in the future.

BELLIES—

> By JOHN P. BOUGHAN. CHICAGO, Jan. 26 .- (AP)-Wheat slid downward today at the last, after a laborious climb to price tops unreached heretofore in almost two weeks.

Wheat closed heavy, 1-4 to 1-2 under yesterday's finish; corn also 1-4 to 1-2 down, oats 1-8 off, and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to a rise of 2 cents.

The pressure appeared to come from holders who had bought recently expecting a bigger advance to follow reports of severe impairment of the crop outlook for domestic wine crop outlook for domestic win-er wheat.

RAILS LEAD RALLY IN BOND MARKET

Daily Bond Averages.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 .- (A)-A moderate rally in rails served to hold the bond market on a fairly even keel today, but signs of vitality were lacking in most categories.

Trading volume again sagged slightly, sales totaling $9,276,000, par value. 53 The Associated Press-Standard Statistics average for 60 domestic corporate loans held a gair of one-tenth of a point. The advance was due en- 119 tirely to the carriers. Averages for both the utilities and industrials eased both the utilities and industrials eased fractionally.

Gains of a point or more were recorded by some liens of Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, Louisville & Nashville, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Texas & Pacific and Western Maryland. Kentucky & Indiana Terminal 41-2s lost 32-14 points on their first sale for more than a year.

The heaviest trading of the day was in United States Rubber 5s, which advanced 1-8 of a point. Moving picture corporation loans were nervous coincident with filing of bankruptey petition here against the Paramount concern. Paramount Publix 51-2s weer off 1-2, Warner Brothers 6s off 21-2, and Keith Corporation 6s off 31-2.

The United States government list was relatively quiet and a little irregular despite the fact that Liberty 21-2s and three of the Treasuries reached new highs for 1932-33.

Receivers Are Named For Paramount-Publix

NEW YORK. Jan. 26.—(P)—Federal Judge William Bondy late today appointed two receivers in equity for the Paramount-Publix Corporation upon petition of the Broadway and Twentieth Properties, Inc., a California Corporation.

Twentieth Properties, Inc., a California Corporation.

Judge Bondy named as receivers Charles D. Hilles and Adolph Zukor. The petitioning company is a creditor to the extent of $29,166.

Earlier in the day an involuntary petition in bankruptcy against the corporation was filed in federal court by three creditors, all holders of the company's 51-2 per cent bonds.

The petition alleged that the corporation, while insolvent on December 10, 1932, with intent to prefer one M. E. Comerford above other and like creditors, transferred to Comerford theater properties of substantial value.

The petitioning bondholders were Reuben Gelford, I. Riseman and M. Yellon, holding a total of $4,000 in the securities. The petitioners also alleged other acts in bankruptcy.

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER. NEW YORK, Jan. 26 .- (4)-The curb market distinguished itself today only in establishing the smallest volume of dealings since last July. Transfers totaled 80,000 shares against 90,000 on Wednesday. Save for a few issues which fluctuated widely because of thin markets, price movements were again within small fractional limits. Most of the market leaders ranged a trifle higher in the early trading, but slipped Losses of 1 to 2 points were shown by Aluminum Company of America, Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad and Carrier Corporation. Celanese first preferred slipped back 5 points.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—(P)—The New York Stock Exchange, in one of its most sweeping disciplinary actions in years, today suspended six of its members for periods ranging from one month to three years.

Several of those suspended were members of the firms of Smeltzer, Clifford & Co., or Ludwig Robertson & Co., both of which withdrew as clearing members of the Stock Clearing Corporation today.

The suspensions were of traders primarily interested in bonds, and were for paying gratuities without the approval of the exchange to employes of the exchange or other financial institutions.

Edward V. Goerz, a private trader, was suspended for one month. H.
H. Wurzler, J. R. Smeltzer and William B. Sagar, all of Smeltzer, Clifford & Co., were suspended for six months each.

The most severe penality was that most out to Alexander, J. Repartson

The most severe penality was that meted out to Alexander J. Robertson, of Ludwig, Robertson & Co., who was suspended for three years. He has been a member of the exchange since April 4, 1929. Walter F. Seeholzer, of the same firm. was suspended for six months. Neither of the two firms involved had out-of-town offices.

Wall Street. (Copyright, 1933, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.) NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Dealings NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Dealings in the stock market continued quiet, with prices of the pivotal issues show-ing a sagging tendency. This apathy is expected to continue until some-thing definite with regard to Presi-dent-elect Roosevelt's policies is an-nounced.

Three important financial groups are said to be prepared to make purchases in the security and commodity that the security and commodity of the security and commodity of the security of the securi are said to be prepared to make purichases in the security and commodity markets following clarification of the political atmosphere. These groups embrace some of the most important men in the financial district.

The general share list now responds little to unfavorable news, again demonstrated today when application was made for the appointment of receivers for the Paramount-Publix Corporation.

Rails were lower with the rest of the list but considerable shifting of long positions from one stock to another is apparent by the fact that some issues show strength while others display weakness simultaneously.

Some switching from Southern Pacific into Chesapeake & Ohio by important interests is said to be under way. The annual figures of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas road, to be made public tomorrow, are expected to make a good showing. Recently there was some shifting of holdings of this common stock issue into the preferred.

The railroad department failed to climb the hill to better times when crops start to move late in the summer.

The statement by Mr. Loree that he had the greatest confidence in the resent management of the New York Central served to create quite an improvement in sentiment with regard to lift the read.

PAPER SAYS WOMAN ADMITS ACID CRIME

"I didn't mean to throw it." Mrs.
Gilmore was quoted as saying in Jail here. "Lewis and the girl both started at me and when I get excited I don't know what I'm doing."

Mrs. Gilmore said she went with another couple to Miss Strickland's room "to see if we couldn't persuade him (Lewis) to quit mistreating me."
It was in Miss Strickland's room that the acid was hurled.

The panther waited for the two moving slowly toward him as slowly and as helplessly as Ko-ta, the tortoise. Tarzan called to them to stop. Surprised, they looked in the direction from which the voice had come; then saw him drop lightly to the ground

Debt Parleys May Change Anglo-U.S. Trade Relations

Britons Predict Entire RUSSIAN PLANNING of International Commerce After Bargaining.

By FRANK H. KING.

(Copyright, 1833, by the Associated Press.)
LONDON, Jan. 26.—(P)—Competent British opinion holds that when England and the United States get down to economic bargaining there is nothing in the international obligations of either country to prevent their setting up a new system of trade relations with each other.

The Ottawa trade agreements governing commerce within the empired on not constitute a barrier to possible trade concessions by Great Britain to the United States in return for reduction of the war debt, according to an authoritative interpretation of the document evolved at Ottawa.

There was no intimation here that the recent speech by Neville Chamberlain, canchellor of the exchequer, in which the British debt policy was outlined, was a direct move for such bargaining between this country and America, but one of the fundamental objectives of England's swing from free trade to tariff last year was to be able to use the tariff as a bargaining weapon. In his speech Mr. Chamberlain pointed out how effective this has been.

Twenty nations are at England's doorstep now, waiting to swap trade advantages. Active negotiations are advantages. Active negotiations are advantages. Active negotiations are advantages. Active negotiations are advantages.

Twenty nations are at England's doorstep now, waiting to swap trade advantages. Active negotiations are progressing with five of those nations, the chancellor said. There appears to be no reason why the United States could not join the score of other nations. The success of any Anglo-American trade bargaining is likely to be determined by the mutual advantages in prospect for Great Britain and the dominions.

The Ottawa agreement includes a clause to the effect that if the British government and the dominion government, of Canada for example, consider that variation in the terms of the pacts signed at Ottawa are necessary, the two governments can enter into consultation.

sary, the two governments can enter into consultation.

This loophole, in the opinion of well-informed observers here, offers an op-portunity for Great Britain, still with-in the letter of the Ottawa treaties and without violation of most-favored-nation clauses England has with foreign governments, to make trade con-

Certain aspects of the Ottawa agree ments, such as the general 10 per cent tariff, and the periods of the effec-tiveness of the agreements, are not likely to be changed. However, com-mercial relations affecting the United States, Canada and Great Britain pro-vide a number of situations which be subject to negotiations could
